The Dawn Drinkers

For Profit, Stocks, Not

NEW YORK'S speakers have developed the "dawn drinkers," men and women that sit all night drinking, sometimes watching strange sights.

"Pop" Gallagher, who runs his little speakeasy in West 48th st., and sends the profits to somebody higher up, describes working of "modern prohibition simply."

Eight dawn drinkers were in the back room at 7:15 a. m. when two men came in with machine guns, ordered "two beers and a Scotch," then drew pistols and held up the place.

"Pop" made no fuss, he knows better. Policeman Burns in civilian clothes was just wise.

He was shot in the stomach, and will probably die. There is nothing important in the story, no real news. New York's 32,000 speakeasies are always picturesque and busy.

The interest is "Pop" Gallagher's frankness. Did he run a speakeasy? Sure, what else would he run?

Judge Sibley, of the federal court, tells Atlanta reporters that to apply the Jones law to all offenders would be out of the question. Many bigger—no better—prisons would be needed if that were done.

The judge sentences all prohibition offenders to jail, if he thinks they deserve it. "I sentence hundreds of defendants to the government prison each year. If all violators coming under the Jones law were sent there, there would be no place to put them. It is easier to make laws than to make them work."

Photographs and scientific observations were made of the coffee-colored smoke that billows from the chimneys of the great buildings of New York City.

On the other hand, the gigantic buildings of United Corporation stock investment concerns formed only a few months ago, have increased in value by $21.

Forming holding companies pay better than playing wheat. There is, thus far, no call for "Wall Street relief" in spite of high money rates.

Edith Ford, sailing to look after his father's foreign companies, yesterday told reporters that he does not complain.

New Ford cars are coming off the line, 5000 a day; 1700,000 of them have been sold, and they have unfilled orders for 300,000 more.

The Ford British Company will sell 40,000 to 50,000 cars this year. And the Ford airplane factory expects to turn out one big plane per day. Somebody, big plane per day, will manufacture 8000 small flying machines a day.

It's hard to believe now, but when Henry Ford some years ago announced that he hoped to manufacture 10,000 automobiles a year, he was asked not to make ridiculous statements that would destroy banking confidence in the motor industry.

Last night Helen Willis made her bow before Queen Mary of the presence. That is not what she does, when the lovely queen meets ladies on the court of honor. THEY bow, and back out.

Bacco Agia of Constantinople is believed to be 153 years old. Dido Agia, riding to Angola on the United States liner, will prove to be the champion of the sea.

He says he is 160, remembers well his last wife, when he was married to her, and expects to live many more years.

The diet has been for more than 100 years, cheese and garlic, and he has smoked ever since the age of five.

Find a moral in that, if you can.

Americans that speculate, without knowing, are warned by men who know not to gamble too recklessly in airplane stocks.

Some of the foolishly attracted mindedly actually ran up the price of Shearson Air Line stock, and taking that railroad stock for an airplane concern.

EXPLOSION IN HANOVER: 12 ARE INJURED, 3 DEAD

3 FIREWORKS BLASTS ROCK TOWN; 12 BADLY INJURED; FIRM LOSS

Brockton, May 10.—Three persons are known to have been killed and a number of others were badly injured and burned, when quantities of powder in the plant of the National Fireworks Co., West Hanover, blew up today with a series of thunderous explosions.

The rippling, seething conflagration broke windows in the houses of nearby towns, and were heard for miles throughout the district, as far away as this city and Weymouth.

The explosion, reported about 10:30 a. m., took place at the Brockton plant, where the names of the three persons killed are being placed on the damage list. A large number of doctors and nurses, dispatched to the scene, administered first aid on the spot.

The explosion was followed by a fire in which aid was called from several neighboring communities. A large number of houses were ruined from the Norwell barracks to the edge of the area and street traffic.

All roads leading into West Hanover for two miles were blocked by motor cars, and firefighting operations found difficulty in reaching the scene of the disaster.

The tragedy was headlined by three separate and distinct explosions, following one another with the rapidity of a French 15 in. action. Then followed a series of rolling, rumbling reports which around the entire countryside, and led many to believe that an earthquake had occurred.

Fin. Com. Plans Court Fight Over "Widening Fraud Cash"

With the Finance Commission prepared to apply to the courts to get back taxpayers' money which it declares was "wasted" in the Exchange st. land-taking, a committee of the City Council today grilled witnesses on the Mayor's request for $500,000 for more purchases at the same location.

The Finance Commission announced today it stands ready to bring suit at once in the courts for recovery of damages allegedly due the people of Boston in the Exchange st. widening deal, which the members of the commission reported to be "permeated with fraud."

Chairman Dowling, together with the property owners involved and representatives of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and the Boston Real Estate Exchange, were to appear before the finance committee of the City Council at a hearing on Mayor Nichols' $500,000 loan order for more Exchange st. land-takings.

The commission, through its chairman, John C. L. Dowling, made it clear that it eagerly awaits legislation giving it the authority to sue.

Attention was called to the commission's report in which it was said that it was useless to expect the Mayor or City Council to take

City Councillors John F. Dowd and Roger Deveney were invited to fight today by Warren F. Freeman, real estate expert, after they called him a "liar" at a hearing of the Finance Committee of the Council on further Exchange st. land-takings.

Freeman is one of the six experts who placed a high valuation on Exchange st. property in the previous land-taking, which cost the city $1,750,000, and he was given special attention by the Finance Commission in its report on the deal.

When Freeman was called before the City Council committee today, both the councilmen objected. Deveney intimated that Freeman lied when before the committee previously, and Dowd agreed.

"I am not a liar," shouted the expert, help. "I have never been one, and I don't propose to start now. And if any one of you the councillors from Roxbury think I am they can meet me outside and I'll be there."

"Ah, do I understand the gentleman came here with boxing gloves," said Dowling.

"No, sir," said Freeman.

"Well, if he did I'll here to entertain him," retorted Dowling.

Attemping to probe Exchange's attitude, the committee found one of the land owners refusing to appear and were unable to get from other witnesses any opinion as to a fair value of the three remaining lots which the major wishes to take.

The city has already expended $175,000 for land at the corner of Exchange and State sts., but the widening cannot be accomplished without taking land from the other lot bordering to Dock street.

DOWLING IS WITNESS.

Chairman Dowling of the Finance Committee was called and he told of an investigation of the situation involving the remaining property, claiming that C. W. Whitaker, one of the three owners, had refused to say whether or not he had been approached regarding a sale.

"The Finance Committee is going to try to force Whitaker to talk by means of a subpoena," he said.

"The same owner in a letter read at Mr. Dowling's desk, said he appeared before the City Council committee at all. Another owner, Arthur Kray, said he had been approached since the Exchange bill was introduced but had been under discussion.

Another Dowling, Charles Lee, representing the Boston Real Estate Exchange, would help the committee out on the point which it wished to get at, particularly a fair valuation of the property that Mayor Nichols now wishes to buy.

Councilor Dowling made a motion that $1000 be appropriated to hire a real estate commission to assist the committee, but definite action on this was postponed.

Councilor John F. Dowd, Roxbury said: "There was so much criticism following passage of the act that the members of the committee felt they were unable to obtain the advice and

Court Action Planned to Get Owner's Testimony

Chairman Dowling of the Finance Committee, called to order the committee, said:

"We have a preliminary examination of two parcels in Exchange st. One belongs to the estate of Arthur W. Kray and the other to Whitaker. Mr. Kray owns 35 ft. and 25 Exchange st. The estate of Whitaker owns the land on which he has owned it since 1913.

"The property was in the name of his wife, Mrs. Kray lives in Natick and the legal residence is in Boston. He said that he had been approached by persons since the Exchange bill was introduced, but he had refused to give any opinion and that there are two mortgages on the property. He stated the property was valued at $200,000 and $250,000, and that John St. Lawrence, who owned the property before he died, had been approached by persons since the Exchange bill was introduced, but he had refused to give any opinion and that there are two mortgages on the property. Dowling Balks at Naming Any Price for Project

Councilman Ruby: "But no suggestion was made by the Finance Committee to guide the council." Dowling: "On October 28 the committee made a recommendation."

Q: "Why did you delay until November?—A: I do not determine that."

Councilman Dowling: "We are told by the street commissioners and the Mayor and by the Finance Committee that the entire cost of widening Exchange street will be $1,000,000. We feel that it will run over $1,000,000 before it is finished. Now we cannot get any information from the law department on this matter, and therefore we will not say if you think it is a fair price to the city of Boston."

Dowling: "I think you should consult your city law department as to that."

Q: "Don't you think you ought to give your private opinion on this?—A: No, I prefer not to. That is a matter for the law department."

Councilman Parkman: "Mr. Dowling, is there any way to limit the cost of these three parcels of property to the city of Boston when there is that annual million-dollar street appropriation?"

Q: "I answered the witness."

Councilor Deviney: "Mr. Dowling, you are known to be sitting at the present time in connection with this matter?"

Q: "I don't care to say whether or not," returned Dowling.

Councilor Dowling: "The committee would appreciate your judgment on this matter. Do you think that he was speaking as an individual and not for the Real Estate Exchange.

Councilor Dowling: "Then you are appearing here merely as an individual, without authority from the Boston Real Estate Exchange, just in a personal capacity."

"No," Councilor Dowling answered. "The Real Estate Exchange was invited to send a representative to this hearing, and here in carry back to the Real Estate Exchange any message that committee desires to send."

Councilor Dowling: "Do you think you would be doing a civic and charitable act if you would help the committee on finance of the City Council. Under the charter we have no right to employ real estate experts."

"The Boston Real Estate Exchange performed a civic and charitable act when it came to this hearing, which seemed desirable and advantageous," was the reply.

"I have none," replied Lee, who was then thanked and dismissed.

Councilor Dowling: "I wish to make a motion that $1000 be appropriated to engage a real estate expert to assist the committee on finance in fixing a fair valuation for the remaining property on Exchange st."

The committee decided to go into executive session before J. C. L. Dowling, who was then thanked and dismissed.

Arthur W. Kray, owner of a lot in Exchange st. was the next witness. He testified that his legal residence was in Boston and, with a smile, added, "my home is in Boston."

Chairman Dowling: "What is the assessment of your property?"

"One hundred and sixty thousand dollars," said Kray.

Foley Says He'll Act If Given Proof

DISTRICT ATTORNEY WILLIAM J. FOLEY'S attitude is one of waiting for evidence in the Exchange st. land purchase to be presented to him, he explained today, saying he would decide what action should be taken when he has received a record of all the testimony given before the Finance Commission. The district attorney said:

"I can't go and take evidence off the front doorstep of the Finance Commission, if it happens to have any in this or any other case. Up to date the Finance Commission has not given me any evidence on the Exchange st. widening. All I have is the report which was published in the newspapers."

"The secretary of the Finance Commission said at my office yesterday afternoon and assured me the commission would furnish me with a full transcript of the evidence produced at the hearing, and copies of all documents offered at the hearing."

"He told me the commission had only one copy of these exhibits, which have been turned over to the Governor."

"The secretary said all these were being copied and would be handed to me with a full transcript of the hearing. Soon as this is done, I'll decide what action shall be taken and will be guided entirely by the character of these documents and the evidence."

"This, apparently, will take some time. If, when the matter is submitted to me, I find that evidence warrants action, I shall take it."

"There is no prospect of calling any witness in the Exchange st. widening matter or the Schoolhouse Commission investigation today. The Finance Commission is still engaged in investigating the schoolhouse department. It is not proper for me to consider this while they are acting."

Slattery for Grand Jury School Probe

Chairman Francis E. Slattery, of the Boston Schoolhouse Commission, asserted today that he would welcome an investigation of the commission's affairs by the Grand Jury or any other body.

"I would welcome an investigation of the Schoolhouse Commission and will gladly co-operate with the district attorney by producing at his request any and all records and data of the commission," he said.

"I think it is the surest way of reaching vindication of recent rumors and statements."

"I think that the investigation would do a lot of good in order that the public may get a true picture of the facts which they have not received up to date."

this action in behalf of the citizens and that, therefore, the report was to the Governor and Legislature.

The Suffolk county grand jury, which is rumored to have voted to investigate both the $1,750,000 Exchange st. transaction and the affairs of the Boston Schoolhouse Commission, was reported to be waiting to see if any official would inaugurate action.

District Atty. William J. Foley, having received the Finance Commission's report on Exchange st., said his attitude was one of waiting until he is supplied with a full record of the testimony given at the commission's hearings, after which he will make a study and decide upon his course.

Atty. Gen. Joseph E. Warner is studying the report, which, together with various documentary exhibits, were handed over to him by Governor Allen.

Attorney-General Could Start Action, It Is Held

As regards the schoolhouse commission, in whose affairs a special survey committee found "gross waste and glaring inefficiency," Chairman Francis E. Slattery said today that he welcomed an investigation by grand jury members or anybody else and would gladly co-operate.

Asked about this phase of the city's problems, District Attorney Foley said that he would not interfere while the Finance Commission is still engaged in investigating the schoolhouse department.

Councilor Dowling said that if the grand jury's rumored action caused a big stir, was that the attorney-general of Massachusetts could, if he wishes, institute suit for damages in the case of the schoolhouse commission, but that it was not a question of possible civil action if the Finance Commission fails to get authority from the Legislature to do so.

Crockwell to Fight for Schoolhouse Board Bill

The House of Representatives of the Massachusetts Legislature today heard more about the schoolhouse commission when Representative Richard D. Crockwell of Medford, chairman of the committee on education, introduced a bill to amend the act relating to the schoolhouse commission.

Chairman Gray of the Boston School Committee and Judge Michael H. Sullivan, who headed the special schoolhouse survey board, introduced a bill for a new form of schoolhouse commission.

This bill was reported "ought not to pass" by the committee on education with Crockwell and others dissenting. Crockwell said today on the floor of the House that on Monday he would move to substitute for the adverse report the bill itself, with amendments.

This amendment would provide for a Commission of School Buildings, to be composed of one member appointed by the mayor of Boston, the school committee and the school board. The bill would be effective from the first two. If he selected was made within thirty days, the third and fourth members would be named by the Governor.

Crockwell's amendment also would provide for a referendum to the voters of Boston on the whole bill.

The bill on which the adverse report was made provided for a commission of three members, to be appointed one by the mayor, one by the school committee and one by the governor. The present commission, in named by the mayor of Boston.

Dist. Atty. Foley said today that while he had heard the rumor that the grand jury had voted to investigate both Exchange st. and the schoolhouse commission, he would not believe it until he had heard the rumor that the grand jury had voted to investigate both Exchange st. and the schoolhouse commission.

It is widely rumored that the present panel of the grand jury has previously shown signs of unusual independence of action. Work of preparing a complete transcript of the Exchange st. evidence, which the district attorney requested, is being rushed by Chairman Dowling of the Finance Commission.

BABY CRIES FOR DADDY GONE FROM HOME

"I want daddy. I want daddy." These few words—about the only ones she knows—in the appeal of two-year-old Lorraine Brown of 8 Albin pl., Somerville, to her missing father, Bruce T. Brown, the father left his family of wife and two babies. The old story of depressing financial burdens was just too much for him. He couldn't get enough work to pay his bills, and he couldn't stand being at home while they suffered.

He left home a few weeks ago and his wife, Mrs. Alice Brown, doesn't know where he went. The mother and two children, one of whom is only six months old, went to live with the wife's mother in Somerville.

"It's all so hard to bear," wept the wife, "for we loved him so much, we don't think he would do this. But if he'll only come back we'll try harder than ever to keep our home together."

The wife said that she had no money and owed $43 on her bedroom set which she would have to lose in a few days if "daddy" failed to come back.

Testimony that her husband was a habitual drunkard and had lashed her with a dog whip was offered in Middlesex Probate Court today by Mrs. Mildred Murphy of Wakefield in her suit for divorce. In the same court George F. Wetmore of Cambridge, seeking a divorce from Ruth Wetmore, testified that his wife's sole reason for deserting him was because he refused to allow her to stay out nights. She left him March 23, 1928, and had refused to heed his plea to return. Wetmore told the court.

SALTONSTALL ACCUSED ON 'L' BILL BY TWOING

Representative James J. Twoing, in an open letter today to Speaker Everett Saltonstall, accused the latter of "intimidating" legislators in the pending 21 extension of public control bill.

"I regard this as an absolute violation of your official duty as speaker of the House. These members I have in mind are not residents of the metropolitan district directly affected by this act and because of your interference are prevented from casting a free and unbiased vote."

"If this sort of action continues, I shall demand an investigation."

Allen in Tribute to Mother's Day

GOVERNOR ALLEN today issued this statement on the observance of Mother's Day, May 12:

"Mother's Day is an institution now firmly entrenched in the hearts of all Americans. It should and does appeal to the highest and noblest sentiments in human nature. 'Human-kind, with its imperfections, can do no better than strive towards the perfect tribute, and it is my fervent hope that the citizens of this Commonwealth will, by their outward and visible devotion to their own mothers, intensify in their lives and spiritual grace a deep personal reverence for motherhood and the wholesome influence in the home.'"

STRIKERS PLAN TO MAKE STATE BUY THEIR FOOD

PAY NO FINES, STAY IN JAIL, THEIR CRY

"We're right, and we'll go to jail to prove it," said Jacob Krantz, spokesman, for 14 women and 21 men striking shoeworkers who were brought into Roxbury District court today on disturbance charges relating to their strike picketing.

Although their cases were put over until May 20, the men and women have a plan to improve their side upon the public if the court finds them guilty and assess fines for "disturbing the peace."

REFUSE TO PAY FINES
"We simply refuse to pay our fines," said Jacob Krantz, spokesman, "and then the state will make us work under our fines."

Krantz further explained that the state will then have to feed us for several weeks, and we will be serving terms for a cause which we know to be righteous."

The girls are fully as determined to go to jail rather than pay fines as are the men.

"This is the first step of a fight to the finish for the rights due us. We are respectable people and this is a modern case in which both sides of a question are to be heard."

These men and women strikers claim they have been unfairly treated by their employers.

EXPECT LONG STRIKE
Krantz says the strikers are aware that the side which can stand out the longest in a strike has a strategic advantage. Although this strike is a weak old union members are ready to plan for a possible long drawn out battle.

Relief for the families of the strikers is being arranged. Collections are being forwarded by sympathetic unions all over the country, Krantz said.

Today union officials announced they had signed an indefinite contract with a South End restaurant owner to furnish three meals a day at special prices to the men and women out of work.

MOTHER TAKES 'HUSH MONEY' HER BABY TO JAIL CELL

Bridgeport, Ct., May 10 (INB)—Mrs. Mary Brazina, mother of seven, with the youngest at her breast, today began serving the first of 30 days to which she was sentenced as a bootlegger by Judge Burdick in city court.

Mrs. Brazina was given the alternative of a fine of $200 or a jail sentence. She had no money to pay the fine and must work it out in jail.

She is 35 years old, and previously has served a similar term. At that time she told the court that selling liquor was her only means of supporting her seven children.

The police forgot to remove her from her home during the first raid, however, and when she again ran short of funds the temptation to sell liquor again proved strong. The apparatus was still there and the children needed food, she explained.

Admitting more than half a hundred robberies, two West Newton boy burglars today were sentenced in Newton juvenile court to industrial schools.

Both boys are 16 years old. They said they stole about $1000 in merchandise, most of which was recovered, and about $300 in cash. Only $22 was taken back from them. This sum was found sewed in a seam of one boy's clothing. Most of the $778 went for candy, smokes, and shoes. One youth was sent to the Shirley Industrial School on 12 counts of breaking and entering in Newton. Besides these charges, he was sentenced to 20 years in Waterbury, and 10 in Waltham. The other boy, who was sent to the Lyman School, admitted 10 breaks in Waterbury and 10 in Waltham.

CALLS ORDER INSOLVENT

Atty.-Gen. Joseph E. Warner today filed in the Supreme Court an action to dissolve the United Order of the Golden Star, Inc., a fraternal beneficial society which began business on April 17, 1900.

Its chief executive officers are: Nellie A. Gerow of Haverhill, grand commander; Hattie A. Walker of Bradford, grand secretary; and Francis E. Cushing of Woburn, grand treasurer. The Attorney-General said the society is not carrying out its contracts in good faith; that it had failed to comply with the provisions of chapter 178 of the General Laws; that it owes unpaid claims of $15,000 and has in its mortuary fund only $249.54 to pay those claims.

Hearst Statement in Congress Record

Washington, May 10.—William Randolph Hearst's statement on law enforcement has been placed in the Congressional Record. This action was taken on the motion by Senator Millard E. Tydings, Democrat, of Maryland.

The statement was published April 26 in the 28 Hearst newspapers and has since been reprinted in many other newspapers of the country. In it Hearst replied to President Hoover's law enforcement address given at the Associated Press luncheon in New York, emphasizing that the nation needs laws its citizens can respect.

Senator King, Democrat, of Utah, in commenting upon Hearst's statement declared it merited the serious consideration of the people, asserting that this country is suffering from too much law-making.

Nautical Styles

Favored in Paris

Paris, May 10.—Ships and things that go with them are a la mode over here. Style masters are having a nautical turn, to judge from the variety of sport styles which employ seafaring motifs. Many of the printed linens for mid-summer are stamped with sailing ships in full rig.

Bob hats and trousers, all the way from America, where they originated, now are an established feature of French sport apparel.

In England, in truly English of the classic West-Admiral style, they make a lot of what-called Bobbies.

THREATEN TO LYNCH POLICE WHO SHOT BOY

Arlington, Va., May 10 (INS)—

The seething indignation that disrupted the placid afternoon in this little village gave no indication of subsiding today despite the fact that James Henderson, 17-year-old college youth, a victim of bullets fired at police at what they believed a run-running case, lies buried in a Bristol cemetery, 15 miles away.

Threats of lynching were openly made against City Police James McFay and James Crow and J. T. Worley, who opened fire "at the time," they say, of the car in which Henderson and Paul Frazer and S. T. Dutton, fellow students at Emory and Henry College, were riding.

One of the steel slugs from the officers' guns pierced young Henderson's head and he died in a hospital.

None of the officers has been suspended from duty.

The annual banquet and dance of the Massachusetts Dental Society, at which the newly-elected officers were installed, was held in the Georgian Room of the Hotel Statler.

During his talk the Governor expressed his general uneasiness long enough to ask why many dentists charge much less for their work, remaining that in the respect the dentist's profession differed from every other.

Ford Would Have Clergy Fix Diets to Curb Crime

New York, May 10 (AP)—

Henry Ford believes that most crimes are the result of wrong mixtures in the stomach. His views are given in the current Red Book magazine.

He would have the clergy teach the people what to eat, what mixtures constitute food. If the clergy can't or won't learn, he says, they should invite to their pulpits people who do understand.

Garage and Autos Burn in Malden

Five swept through a four-car wooden garage in the rear of 139 Malden St., Malden, destroying three automobiles and causing damage of $900.

The roof of an adjoining three-car wooden garage was damaged, Mr. and Mrs. Cornejo and their two children of 139 Malden St. were forced out of their home. Firemen succeeded in checking the spread of the flames and saved the home.

THIS morning at least two million women left their homes for the shopping center of their community. Arriving there they deliberately singled out the A&P store as the preferred place to buy their food needs. Why? Many have told us that this is the answer . . . Because A&P stores sell only foods of known merit and genuine goodness . . . and because the low prices at which A&P sells are rarely equalled elsewhere.

interests held by the paper and power company.

Lavare is co-publisher with Harold Hall of the Springfield (S.C.) Herald, Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, and the Columbia (S. C.) Record.

He testified the power company provided the money for the purchase of the three newspapers and would have extended this sum to any amount for papers we thought we could make money on.

Previous testimony taken by the commission showed the sum advanced the publishers was approximately $500,000 secured by notes.

Lavare, who gave his address as New York, Washington and Columbia, D. C., said he got the idea of buying up Southern newspapers in November, 1919.

He went to A. R. Graustein, president of the Paper Company, who secured him of the organization's backing. Preliminary negotiations, he said, were conducted through the New York brokerage firm of DeWitt & DeWitt, to which a commission was paid in the purchase of the Augusta paper.

The testimony disclosed that Hall and Lavare, beginning in November, 1919, were "advanced" $2500 a month each as a drawing account, and that in addition the International Paper Company advanced money totaling $25,000, in three payments outside of the sum put up for the actual purchase of the paper.

The Georgia Power Company, Ltd. were said to have received in November, 1919, $25,000, which has never been paid over to its owners or to the International Paper Company.

Power Trust Inquiry Bill Being Redrafted in House

The text of the redrafted bill calling for the broadest kind of an investigation of the Power Trust, now before the House, will be made public Monday.

The order will then be reported.

in the House and referred to the committee on ways and means to pass on a provision for an appropriation of $25,000 to carry on the probe. Among other expenses, the $25,000 will be used for engaging counsel to conduct the hearings, at which witnesses will be placed under oath.

The committee is to consist of one senator to be appointed by the president of the Senate; three representatives to be named by the speaker of the House; and three others to be designated by the House.

Specialists in life among the names as to who will be picked to serve, but no names have been mentioned with any degree of probability.

Next Tuesday the Senate, ways and means committee will hold a hearing on the municipal lighting bill, which passed the House without a dissenting vote. Representatives of power interests have served notice that vigorous opposition to further progress of the bill will be made.

As was predicted, agents of the Power Trust, skilled propagandists, are working to have the bill introduced in the Senate after the hearing on Tuesday.

The bill is in serious danger, it is evidenced from the statements of Senator Richard Fish of Brooklyn, Republican floor leader of the upper branch.

Fish, a co-member of the power and light committee, earlier had disavowed the original bill, which was later redrafted before reaching the House.

Added it he had any plans when the bill comes from ways and means, Fish said he was withdrawing having the measure laid on the table until the Power Trust investigation committee is named.

With the thought in mind that the bill might be referred to the commission for study.

One of the people's causes in the Senate are scarcely alive to the danger of this move and it will mean leaving the cities and towns helpless to protect themselves against excessive rates levied upon them by the private lighting companies.

Resolve for Power Probe Endorsed

MEMBERS of the State Legislature heartily endorsed the resolve of the joint rules committee today for a comprehensive investigation of the light and power situation that was passed by that body as a result of hearings held in connection with the purchase of newspapers in Boston.

Some of the committee members are:

REP. JAMES E. HAGEN of Somerville—It is obvious from the report of the rules committee, recommending the resolve for the Power Trust investigation and the members know the resolve is a just one.

The variety of the resolve of the State is that it is a "suggestion" of the things that should be done by the public most to its detriment.

PARENTS ARE DESCRIBED BY COOLIDGE

Graphic descriptions of the childhood life of a President are furnished by Calvin Coolidge in the June installment of the Commodorian magazine, on the anniversary of his birth.

An intimate talk on the character of his father and his description of his invalid mother is included in the serial that will continue in the installments to the end of the year.

"He was a big-hearted man," the former Chief Executive writes, "with I could see him as a blacksmith again."

"If there was any physical form of country life that he could not perform I would like to see it."

"He kept looking for mending shoes and harness and mending pipes and tinware. He knew how to perform delicate operations on domestic animals."

"The lines he laid out were true and straight and the curves regular. The work he did endured."

In mentioning his maternal parents, Mr. Coolidge says, "It seems impossible that any man could adequately describe my mother."

Of her lineage he writes: "On the side of her father, Hiram Dunlap Moore, she was Scotch with a mixture of Welsh and English. Her mother, Abigail (Franklin) Moore, was chiefly of the old New England stock."

"She was practically an invalid ever after I could remember her but used what strength she had in lavish care upon me and my sister, who was three years younger."

"When she knew her end was near she called us children to her bedside where we knelt down to receive her final parting blessing. The greatest grief that can come to a boy came to me then. Life was never to seem the same again."

These are but a few quotations of the story of the most recent President of the United States, contained in his own story in the June Commodorian.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a thorough course in the art of housework as advertised daily in the Star-Bulletin.

Concert Throongs Fine Arts Museum

A huge crowd turned out for the second of the free concerts at the Museum of Fine Arts. The attraction was Dr. Archibald T. Davison's remarkable choralists, the Harvard Glee Club.

The Glee Club sang a representative selection of its repertoire. Ancient numbers, from secular and church literature, as well as folk songs, were coupled with more recent compositions, including Vaughan Williams' "Let Us Now Praise Famous Men," and Granville Bantock's "City of Chorus." The concert ended with a performance of the chorus from Gilbert and Sullivan's "Gondoliers."

Not Bleached

Better Bread!

Homo bakers can expect better bread from Ceresota flour because it is not bleached. Bleached flour can be made from wheat of various grades and brought to a uniform whiteness by the bleaching process. Ceresota flour requires the finest wheat obtainable—therefore it bakes better and more healthful bread—and more of it. Try it.

Urges Strict Radio Rule to Avert Chaos

Washington, May 10 (AP)—Chase will rule the air under the Government's strict regulation of radio, Louis G. Caldwell, former general counsel for the radio commission, told the Senate Interstate Commerce committee today at a hearing on the Communications Control bill.

Caldwell urged "rigid supervision of radio." He gave only partial endorsement, however, to the bill which would establish a single federal commission to regulate telephone, telegraph and radio.

Morrows Have No Wedding Views Now

New York, May 10 (AP)—The Associated Press today received from Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, secretary of a telegram stating that "Mr. and Mrs. Morrow have no announcements to make at the present time regarding the wedding of their daughter, Anne Spencer Morrow, to Col. Charles Lindbergh."

The wire stated that announcements would be turned over to members of the press "when they are issued."

BOY, 7, HOLDS DERBY TICKET ON FAVORITE

London, May 10 (AP)—A seven-year-old boy, who "does not understand what it is all about," was avoided by thousands today because of the draw in the Stock Exchange Derby Sweepstakes, which gave him the ticket for the favorite in the classic race.

All business in London's financial district was suspended while the drawing was made.

Johnnie Gibb, small son of a city contractor, held one of two tickets for the favorite, Lord Astor's colt, the boy's father already has announced to sell the ticket at a good price, or to sell at least half of it, before the race is run on Friday, June 5.

We are all naturally greatly excited," said Mrs. Gibb after the news was brought to her. "Johnnie does not understand what it is all about."

Johnnie's father gives each of his four children a ticket for each evening for the Derby, but keeps none for himself.

Textile Strikers Ask Congress to Aid

Washington, May 10 (AP)—A group of textile strikers from Gastonia, N. C., would like the Capitol today to make a personal plea for a personal investigation of labor conditions in the textile industry in the South.

The party came to testify before the Senate manufacturing committee at 4 o'clock on a resolution of inquiry. The strikers were disappointed to find the hearing had adjourned to next week.

HOGSETT SEES BATES IN STATE PRISON ESCAPE

Warden James L. Hogsett has completed his investigation of the escape from State prison of Albert Aldridge, convict, and conferred today with State Commissioner of Correction Sanford Bates.

The two night guards who were suspended pending the result of the investigation have not yet been reinstated to duty, but action in their case is expected late today.

Meanwhile, a State-wide manhunt was under way for Aldridge, whose departure from prison was facilitated by one of the most elaborate plans in the history of the institution.

It has been revealed that the man, whose record shows he was no amateur at breaking jail, left a dummy in his cell to deceive his guards after he had cut a hole in the cell wall and bored an amazingly large number of holes in the roof.

Favor Raise in Pay for Warden

A bill to raise the salary of the warden of State Prison to $5000 and the deputy warden to $2500 is favored by the House Committee on Ways and Means.

Homes for Aged to Be Under Supervision

Governor Allen today signed a bill under which all boarding houses in which three or more aged persons are cared for will be under the supervision of the state. The new act is based on a recommendation of the commissioner of public welfare, Richard K. Coons, following the closing of the Cooper home at Dedham.

Harry R. Drackell, president of the American Grocers' Association of Cincinnati, speaking before the Association of Manufacturers' Representatives of New England, at their seventh annual banquet, held at the Chamber of Commerce, declared that women do the buying for the family today.

"Women are not only buying groceries and provisions and general supplies for the home," Drackell said, "but they are even acting as purchasing agents for 80 per cent of the men's clothes that are sold."

LEADS SENATORS

Senators, clerks of the New Hampshire Senate and former secretary in Senator Moses of New Hampshire, another speaker at the banquet, talked on personalities of the national Senate, and urged his hearers to hold that body in high estimation.

"We are not governed by crooks, but by honest men, in the Senate," he declared. "And it is we even acting as purchasing agents for 80 per cent of the men's clothes that are sold."

BY COMMITTEES

Colonial Gas

High-Test No-Knock

THE difference between "high-test" and "low-test" gas is the "borderland" mixture, which in refining comes between gasoline and kerosene, and which causes most of the knocking, loss of power and crank-case dilution.

But you won't find any "borderland" in COLONIAL GASOLINE. In our refining processes, we remove and discard all this "borderland" mixture—and dispose of it for heating purposes; not as gasoline.

Because of this—when we extended our operations beyond New England and through New York State, to Buffalo on the west and New York City on the south—COLONIAL GAS scored such a striking success that our sales increased to four-fold in the past four years.

VET HONORED FOR INTEREST IN FLAG

Baltimore, May 10.—A bed-ridden World War veteran, paralyzed from injuries in navy service and hero of immigrant children whose interest he aroused in a flag contest, has been decorated with the cross of honor of the United States Flag Association.

One night years Walter J. Kolodziejki has laid on his bed in a section designated by immigrants.

"The contest, requiring essays on Old Glory's Greatest Glory," was taken by him as another way to win the flag he loves. He gathered about his bedside a group of children, no two of the same nationality, and awakened their interest in the flag and a desire to enter the contest. He organized and directed the contest in his vicinity.

In presenting the medal to the victor, Col. Mace said: "Walter J. Kolodziejki, in my life I have seen men perform many heroic deeds but never have I seen a man whose life presents a nobler or more unselfish example to his fellow Americans than yours."

"Without his guidance it is truly spoken of as the greatest of all deeds, but they make a lot of unselfish deeds."

Girls Yet in School
Are Preparing for Their Coming Out
Parties

COLOSTERED WITHIN FAMILIAR schools, what does the subdeb can resist the temptation to look beyond Commencement to that red letter day of her coming out party? The thrilling question, "Who's coming out, how and when?" has a way of leaping from many a school book page to keep the junior smart set on the quiver for that all-important 1929 debutante calendar, being compiled by Miss Mary O. Porter.

ON THAT PRINTED LIST, which will be sent this summer with keen interest, already appears the names of Elizabeth G. Morison, finishing at Concord Academy while her family is abroad; Anne Channing and Grace Minot, planning their debut at a joint party next October as the closing days of Winsor school draw near; Helen Warren and Pauline Prince, both sailing abroad in June; Elizabeth Saltontail, now at Foxcroft, Va.; Catherine Olney, Lucius Orlandini, returning from Venice on May 31; Hope Richardson, due from abroad June 18; Virginia Baigier, returning from school in Lausanne, Switzerland, on June 30; and Ethel Grew, due home from Paris school early in July.

OTHER NAMES WHICH dignify parties of the crème de la crème for that first formal bow to Boston society are Lois L. Smith of New York; Barbara Wendell of Chicago; Edith Bullock of Worcester; Mary D. Cleveland of Concord; Grace Livermore, Cecily D. Livermore, Anne Tuckerman, Barbara Proctor, Elizabeth Jackson, daughter of the James Jacksons, and Elizabeth B. Jackson, daughter of the Charles Jacksons; Pauline de Fries, Ann Frothingham, Rebecca Hathorn, Elizabeth Hobbs, Elizabeth Holmes of New York, Charlotte G. Hopkins, Elsie Brewer, Mary D. Chase of Milton, Mary A. Cushman and Katherine Davis.

ON AND ON RUMS THIS WAS elating roster of the daughters who move in the charmed circle of Boston's elite, a list whispering of a round of delightful gatherings beginning in June, it is said, and continuing through the early winter. And every day some famous Boston cognomen is added, assuring another social function for next season's gay whirl. Miss Foster requests that all who have not already sent in their names, do so before May 15 when the list closes.

WHEN MISS MARGARET ROWDITCH moves upward to exchange vows with Richard J. Paige on May 15 in one of the important society weddings of the season, she will be attended by her sister, Mrs. James R. Fraser of Canton, as honor matron. Her bridesmaids will be Mrs. Roger Preston, Newton Center, another sister; Mrs. J. P. Parker, Jr., Brookline; Miss Ruth Underhill, Newton Center, baroness of the bride-elect's brother, and Miss Mary P. Bush of Boston.

FRANCIS PAIGE WILL ACT as best man, and the ushers who will seat the fashionable audience in the First Parish Church in Brookline will be Edward Rowditch, brother of the bride-elect, Roger Preston, James Fraser, Harry Ware, Jr., Howard Fraser, J. P. Parker, Jr. The ushers are to be entertained by the groom at dinner at the University Club next Thursday and the bride and her attendants to dinner by Mrs. Roger Preston on the same evening in Newton Center. The entire party is to be the guests of Miss Row-

Roxbury Folk Answer His Daily Question and Pose for Picture

THE QUESTION

Do you think that the Governor Dillaway House is situated in Roxbury, should be restored and preserved as a historic landmark by popular subscription?

LILLIAN MOYLAN, 7 Norfolk st.—All the other old buildings around here have been torn down, and I think the people of Roxbury will agree with me that the house of a Massachusetts governor of Revolutionary days should be preserved as a landmark. The residents of Roxbury would not mind the destruction of a few old buildings to preserve the old place. It was in that building that Gen. John Thomas made his headquarters during the siege of Boston when we were fighting for our independence.

FREDERICK A. ROULE, 14 John st.—I am chairman of a Roxbury committee I have already asked Mayor Nichols and the Boston school committee to preserve the Governor Dillaway House. The property is owned by the City of Boston and a new junior high school is soon to be erected on the site. I believe the old building should be restored and used in connection with the proposed school, possibly to house one of the school departments. It could be preserved as a landmark and used by classes in domestic science or in history.

REFUSES TO GIVE RIDE TO SUB POLICEMAN

The legality of a motorist's recalcitrance toward a policeman asking a "lift" will be thrashed out in superior court in the year future on the appeal of James H. Contance of Dorchester from a fine of $25 imposed in Dorchester court.

Contance was hailed into court by Traffic Officer John S. Marx of the Marion st. station, on a charge of refusing to obey the policeman's signal to stop. Contance told the court in his plea that he was waiting for a street car to take him to his home. He denied that he used the thumb motion, asserted that he extended his entire hand, and that he intended to preserve the old place. It was in that building that Gen. John Thomas made his headquarters during the siege of Boston when we were fighting for our independence.

Bertazzollo at 206 Pounds for Maloney

ITALIAN IN 13-ROUND WORKOUT

Gagnon and Friedman Signed for 3rd Final Tussle on Garden Bille

By JACK CONWAY
RICARDO BERTAZOLLO
Italian heavyweight champion, looked the part of a fighting man as he went through a 13-round workout at Sharon Gardens. When the big fellow called it a day, he was perspiring freely, but he was not the least bit tired.

Bertazzollo stepped on the scales and the beam hit 206 pounds. "Ricardo will be at about 206 pounds when he enters the ring against Jim Maloney at the Boston Garden on May 17," said Frank Marlow. "The big fellow has been carefully trained by Doc Bagley and will give Maloney one of the hardest battles of his career."

Bertazzollo boxed six rounds, two each with Eddie Cullinan, Mike Hollick and Pat McCarthy. For a man of his size, he is fast. He punches well with both hands, and also knows how to vary his blows. He shifts well from the head to the body or in the reverse order. Jack Gagnon has been added to Bertazzollo's staff of sparring partners. He will begin working with the Italian champion tomorrow. Mike Rafferty is also at Sharon Gardens and is ready to step in and do his stuff. Frank Marlow has placed Doc Bagley, former pilot of Gene Tunney, in charge of the training camp. Bagley is one of the best handlers of boxers in the country and should have Bertazzollo in the best possible condition for his meeting with Maloney. Ricardos will lay off today. He will motor to Boston and be the guest of Judge Fuchs at Braves field this afternoon.

MALONEY has established training quarters at Wrentham. He realizes Bertazzollo is a worthy rival and will get himself into the best possible condition. Shamus has been fighting steadily for the past year and may be expected to show at his best in the

MIXES WITH MALONEY

RICARDO BERTAZOLLO
This Italian heavyweight battles Jim Maloney at the Hub Garden next Friday night. His kays punch is good. Jim Maloney will prove a tough foe, though.

Garden will a week from tomorrow night. Al Friedman of Rosindale will act as one of Maloney's sparring partners. Friedman has also been matched to clash with Jack Gagnon in the eight-round semifinal at the Garden show.

INJURY JINX HITS B. C. NINE

Injuries, which have been infrequent in the Boston College baseball camp this spring, are beginning to worry Coach Hugh Duffy. His two sophomore sluggers, Frank Regan and George Colbert, are both under the doctor's care.

Regan tore a strain in his leg in the William and Mary game while sliding into first. He was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital where it was learned that he wouldn't be able to play before the first Jinx Cross game on May 30 at Worcester.

Colbert, who has been bothered with two torn knees since high school football days, wrenched his right one in a practice workout and had to be assisted from the field. Reports on Colbert are that he'll be out until at least the Dartmouth game at Hanover on next Tuesday. If he played in today's game with Springfield or tomorrow against New Hampshire he would probably be forced to retire for the season. These two blows could come at a more serious time. For the Eagles ought to be able to carry through on high without Colbert and Regan until the 25th of the month when Fordham, Georgetown and Holy Cross come to clash with B. C. within six days.

But it's going to throw both boys out of their strides and they will have to start all over again. Colbert ought to be back soon but a wrenched knee will have to be favored and a layoff won't do his battling any good.

The B. C. catcher was leading all the college ball players with an average of .303 at the bat. Regan was in third place in the list of batting honors with an average that soared to .315 as a result of his two hits against Boston Hall.

Colbert and Regan are both sophomores and two of the cleanest ball players in every respect who have battled for the Maroon and Gold.

SONNY N HUB TOMORROW FOR DE VITO GO

Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg will return to Boston tomorrow night to prepare himself for a final match with Joe DeVito of Providence, to be staged at the Arena next Thursday night. The bout will be for the heavy-weight wrestling championship of the world, and judging by the heavy advance sale of tickets, it will be attended by the greatest crowd that has seen a wrestling match since the night Sonnenberg defeated Maloney at the Garden. When Sonnenberg won the heavyweight title from Ed Strangier Lewis, there were thousands still uncaptured of his greatness. They granted his superhuman strength. They granted his showmanly and color, but they questioned his greatness as a wrestler.

Mannix Faces B. C. H. Nine Tomorrow

Ed Mannix will take the mound for the B. C. freshman ball nine at the Heights tomorrow afternoon against Boston College high. This family battle is always one of the best on the Eagle fresh program. Bill Boschar will hurt for the Junior Eagles. The team, coached by Art McManus, a former B. C. athlete, is one of the best in schoolboy ranks and will give the B. C. fresh plenty of trouble. The B. C. freshmen have beaten St. John's Prep and the B. U. freshmen and lost a game to St. Anselme.

Harry Downes, heavy-hitting catcher, will be behind the plate for Frank McCraney's 32 outfit.

Fairhaven on Top

New Bedford, May 10—Fairhaven high retained second place in the Bristol County League by defeating Vocational school, 2 to 1, here. V. school held the winners to three hits.

B. C. TRACKMEN TO REST UP THIS WEEK

Boston College track squad will rest this week-end for the first time in a month. Jack Ryder boys get into action next week-end at the New England Intercollegiate and finish the season of 1929 at Philadelphia two weeks from now, competing in the national intercollegiate. Ryder has little hope of winning the New England title. He'll enter as many men as possible. Zeke Wilkes should gather about ten points for the Eagles, but that isn't enough to come close for the honors and there doesn't seem to be any other track man at the Heights who can help the captain in his quest.

"They're all good cigarettes, chief, but this one is a pippin!"

115 men in the Mt. Clare B & O shops, in Baltimore, test the 4 leading cigarettes

"Why should I change?" says the average smoker, when someone suggests another cigarette.

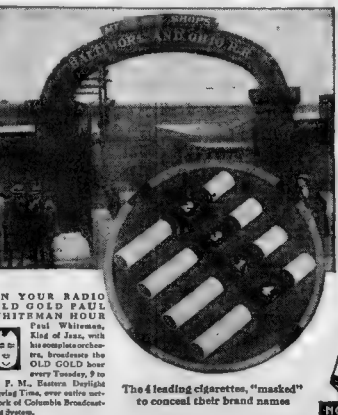

"I'm used to my brand . . . and it's a good smoke."

Of course it's good. Not even Old Man Habit can hold a smoker to a poor smoke. But being used to an old thing often keeps a man from getting acquainted with a better one.

That's the reason for these "concealed name" cigarette tests now going on all over the country: To give a man a chance to find out, on the level, which cigarette his taste really does like best.

Look what happened at the Mt. Clare shops of the B & O in Baltimore, the other day. Most of the fellows had been smoking that old favorite (let's call it Brand Y) for years. But when Chairman of Machinists, James E. Poulton, handed out the four leading cigarettes with paper "masks" over the names, 57 out of 115 picked OLD GOLD as the best cigarette. It was a walkaway for OLD GOLD!

"That only proves," said one of the chief mechanics, "that a fellow misses a lot if he gets too set in his ways."

Strong Penn Nine Clashes With Harvard Tomorrow

PENN SQUAD ARRIVES IN BOSTON TODAY

By TED LYNCH

One of the best Penn ball teams ever to come out of the Quaker State arrives here today to battle the Harvard team at Soldiers Field tomorrow afternoon.

The Red and Blue pulls into town tonight.

This affords the Red and Blue warriors a good night's sleep before meeting Harvard in what should be one of the best college contests of the year.

Dr. Caris, veteran Penn coach, is carrying his entire squad here and admits that the coming game with Harvard is one of the objective contents on his long schedule.

The Quakers come here with an enviable record of 12 wins and three losses to date. Numbered in their defeats are two games in which Dr. Caris experimented with rookies.

RECORD FIVE
The Red and Blue invaders have defeated Duke on two occasions, Maryland, Swarthmore, West Point, Tufts, Brown and Princeton, sole conqueror of Holy Cross.

The Quakers were defeated by Yale and lost encounters to Lake Forest and North Carolina, the experimental contests.

ICE COACH HAD HARD CAREER

Minneapolis, May 10.—From civilization into the jungle, back to civilization and into the jungle again is the trail that has been followed by Emil Iversen, Minnesota hockey coach, whose teams have never finished below second and in most years have been first in the Western Conference.

Ivy plans to devote much of his summer to exploring the farthest interior reaches of wilderness in Northwestern Minnesota and in Ontario, across the international boundary.

One of these operations is the extraction of oak wood in the hindmost jungles of the country.

TOO cold to play good baseball, Braves prove it—this is Indian day at Wigan, so there will be a fair crowd—Walter Hearn just needs something to shoot at—he reaches for a putter instead of a sweet, and then, he's lucky—Tribal passes are valuable; ask the man who owns one—provided it has been returned yet—Bertaux is training on an Italian farm, right along with the broccoli—Schmelling came in on the Reliance, and probably will go out on a shutter—if his managers don't run him up for souvenirs—the managers are upset on that cut stuff—but their cuts don't bleed—Faddock signs up with publishing company; will work as a sprinter—Judge Fuchs should put tail-meters on some of the Braves; then they'd run faster—the Yanks have won seven in a row, but that's not news—the flowers that bloom in the spring are all in conversation.

RED SOX MEET ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, May 10.—The Red Sox open a series here today with the home club. Ed Morris was ready to pitch for the Carrigan club. The Sox, who have been having a hard time of it on their journey through the West, hope to get in a good game.

Milton Gaston pitched his game of the season against the Cleveland Indians but was beaten, 4 to 3.

Boston jumped off to a good lead against Joe Shauls, who was given poor support in the first inning. Gaston's slump in the sixth allowed the Indians to tie the score and they won out in the ninth.

A school teacher was trying to explain the doctrine of the Declaration of Independence to his class. Now, boys, I will give you each three buttons. HARVARD CAST IN 'CLOSE-UP' TRIUMPH

An "Etieta" died—so must "Close-Up" live, for the one was taboo in Boston last night, but the other will be enthused over when it is shown within Boston's confines Saturday night.

"Close-Up," a collegiate musical comedy conception of life among folk in Hollywood, had its premiere last night at Brattle Hall in Cambridge, with many of the players who were in "Etieta" appearing in the opening production of the Harvard Dramatic Club.

There will be a performance of the surprisingly well-done "Close-Up" in Brattle Hall and the Boston performance in the Republic Theatre Saturday night.

SNAPPY NUMBERS

Like the majority of musical comedies, professional or otherwise, there is a substantial percentage of sand in "Close-Up" not foundation, but the story, as it is well done and the musical score contains at least three numbers that, emerging from "Tin-Pan Alley" would soon and frequently be broadcast.

The story tells of two students of Colfax College who win the college movie contest and arrive in Hollywood to find the star of one in the love and good graces of a new, he-comes-and-takes-it-away. In the part of a star inspires a plot and a switch in pearl princess resulting in a temporary rift in the love motif, but all is well when the film within is turned up the misunderstanding corrected and the story of romance smoothed out again.

An innovation in Harvard musical comedy, "Close-Up" exhibits not only in the ensemble but as principle. And they contribute much to the success.

STARS IN CAST

Perhaps the outstanding player is Henry Bonds of the Graduate School, a comedian of no mean talent. John Archer, 20, is the leading director. Robert Haydon Jones, 20, is the head director. Joseph Collins is the girl enamored of Archer. Juliette Brown, Radcliffe, 20, is Betty Ritten in love with one of the college winners. Corlie Wilbur, Radcliffe, 20, is a true blonde daughter of old Kentucky. In the leading ensemble dancer, Robert R. Wallis, 22, of the Wallis family. In the leading villain, Wallace Blythe, 22, is a villain. In the leading heroine, Eleanor Swann is a villain. Bonds and Blythe are by Harold C. Adamson, 20, and the excellent music is by Bernard D. Hanger of the same class.

The foot-tapping musical numbers are "Tone Up," "Put Your Arms Around Me, Dear" and "Strike Me."

Medford Thieves

Have Field Day

Small-time thieves held a field day in Medford last night. Daniel McGregory of 114 Monument st. lost the rubber plant which had been thriving in a large tub on his veranda. The thieves took the tub, too. Miss Katherine Curran of 47 Transcott st. reported the loss of the horn from her parked car, and Anthony Laura of 27 Cross st. lost two tires.

CHINESE 'LINDY' BOMBS CANTON REVOLT SHIPS

Canton, China, May 10 (AP)—Solemnized Canton today suppressed the first fighting to grow out of the invasion of Kwantung province by the Kwangsi military. The attack occurred off the borders of the Shamen foreign concession and caused consternation among the British, American and Chinese being panic-stricken.

The revolt occurred in an attempt to escape from the harbor of four gunboats, commanded by a vice-commander of the navy.

W. J. Chang, often described as "China's Lindbergh," took the air above the ships, bombed them and raked their decks with machine gun fire.

The batteries on Nacoo island, opened fire while the machine gun placements on Honam Island peppered the sides of the ships with smaller shot. Realizing escape was impossible they took refuge in an area occupied by seven foreign warships, among them the U. S. S. Tulsa and the U. S. S. Guam. Later they were boarded and dismantled.

FIND MISSING SCHOOLGIRL IN PROVIDENCE

Pawtucket, R. I., May 10—Anna Rodgers, 16-year-old junior high school student, for whom a widespread search had been instituted by police following her disappearance, is today in custody of the local juvenile court.

She was found last night in Providence and police brought her back to this city.

For a time her disappearance was linked with the death of Florence Weirick, her classmate, whose death is still being investigated, and, significantly enough, the name of another teacher was injected into the Rodgers girl's disappearance.

LA PLACE HINTS AT PERJURY IN 20 TRIAL PLEA

An allegation of perjured testimony by a government witness in the recent trial of Basil E. LaPlace, convicted of misapplication of $50,000 from the funds of the National Shawmut Bank, is made in a petition filed in Federal court today for a new trial for the defendant.

LaPlace was found guilty on seven of ten counts of misapplication of funds while he was manager of the auto loan department of the bank, and is at liberty under $25,000 bail awaiting sentence on May 20.

The government witness against whom the charge of perjury has been made is not identified by name.

3 Men Arrested in 2 Chicago Bombings

Chicago, May 10 (AP)—Two bombs were hurled today in different parts of the country and both caused damage. Three men were arrested in one bombing, which partially wrecked the Avenue Inn, a roadhouse in Niles. In the other bombing the dairy plant of Josef Wagner in Cicero was damaged. Wagner recently obtained an injunction preventing a milk cartel association from annoying him.

An affidavit attached to the petition for a new trial purports to convert testimony by Frank A. Newell, vice-president of the bank.

Newell, according to the record of the trial, denied he took any part in settlement of the estate of Theodore V. Knutson, former real estate broker. The affidavit declares his name appears as one of the appraisers of the estate on documents in Middlesex Probate court.

LOST CHARLIE ROSS' BROTHER IS DEAD

Philadelphia, May 10 (AP)—Henry A. Ross, an older brother of the world-famous Charlie Ross, killed in 1914 and never heard from, died today at his home at Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, he was 64.

He was five years older than Charlie and with another brother was spending his summer vacation at Middletown, Pa., when Charlie, four, and another brother, Walter, six, were carried off by two men in a buggy. Walter was abandoned on a street corner in Kensington, Philadelphia, the same night possibly because he was older and more observant than Charlie.

Walter is well known in New York Stock Exchange circles.

Useful Hints on These Pages

No woman can afford to miss these suggestive pages. Here you will find household information of great value, a wonderful article by an eminent physician, important advice on matters of etiquette by a woman who knows, and fashion hints fresh from Paris, showing handsome gowns.

Spring Tonics

FEELING a bit lazy these days? Lacking ambition? Appetite not up to scratch? These signs of "Spring Fever" used to be the signals for Grandmother's "hot tea" and "rubbing" and "rest," but we have a pleasant remedy today—spring vegetables in liberal quantities.

There is nothing at all alarming in this general "let down" feeling. It is simply a period of readjustment of the human system to the change in temperature—the easing up of energies which have been keyed up by the cold.

But, during this period, it is essential to keep up the strength and vitality. The body requires, especially, a fresh supply of iron, and, fortunately, this can be provided by the wise house mother in foods that will not only tempt the appetite of her family, but re-energize their system. (Doesn't that sound profound?)

All the green vegetables, such as spinach, cabbage, asparagus, artichokes, Brussels sprouts and lettuce are rich in iron and vitamins. So are carrots, spinach and asparagus are additionally valuable as system cleansers.

One has rightly been called the "king of vegetables," and the other the vacuum cleaner. And the flaming red "love apple" to call the tomato by its early name, can rightly be considered the king of vegetables, because of its superiority in food value.

The tomato is really unique. Not only does it have the peculiar acidity and succulence of fruit, but it is rich, as well, in vegetable properties. And, most important of all, it contains in large proportions all the vitamins necessary to human growth and development, and is an excellent stimulant to the appetite. Even we babies are getting raw tomato juice to guard against the dreaded "rickets."

The fresh ones now in the market are a lot pleasanter investment than from July, or, if you are eating cautiously, close to the limits of your food budget, the dried variety is just as valuable. Here is a way to combine the fresh vegetable with the new baby spring onions.

SPINACH WITH EGGS AND HAM

1 c. chopped, cooked spinach.
1 egg, salt.
1 tsp. butter or other shortening.
1 hard boiled egg.
1 c. highly seasoned white sauce.

Season the spinach with the salt and pepper, and add the butter. Spread half of the spinach in a buttered baking dish (this is the most attractive). Then add the minced ham in a layer. Then the hard-boiled eggs, chopped fine, the sauce of white sauce, and then the rest of the spinach. Sprinkle the grated cheese over the top and bake in hot oven (350° F.) until the cheese is a rich brown.

(By the way, do you eat all of your cheese trimmings and put them away in your food chopper grate them for just such dishes as these?)

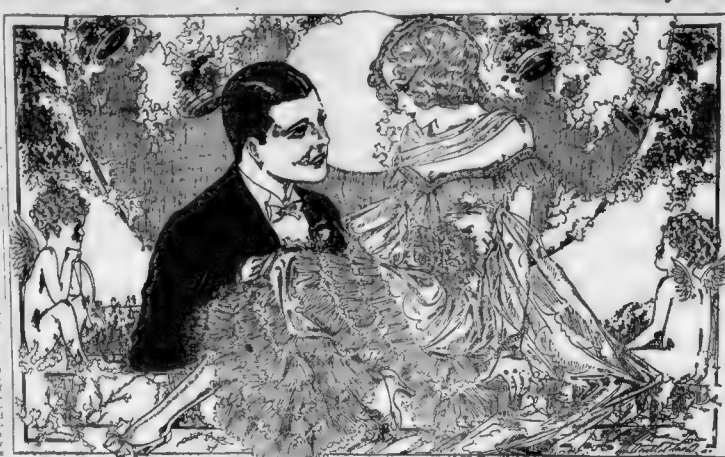

And that ends the vegetable chat for today.

Write till tomorrow.

Faithfully yours,

MARTHA LEE.

After the Dance

DRAWN BY Dorothy Flack

CUPID'S special hour—after the dance is over and they walk through the soft, mysterious moonlight! Then it is that heart's best friend and hands clasp closer and two, who have been chatting merrily the whole evening through, suddenly find themselves silent and thrilled merely to be near each other. True, he has been holding her in his arms as they floated over the floor in perfect time with the music's rhythm, but that is nothing to the music of the beating hearts and the words that refuse to say themselves.

Words are such untrustworthy—and this is the one time of all that they're less than nothing! Just the presence of the other is sufficient, and many a heart is won and many a truth plighted in this most witching of all hours.

Cupid chuckles to himself, the scamp, for he it is who has led them to this hour so that they may know at last that Love has come to them. And as the far-off music reaches their ears it is a soft, throbbing note, but they mean a lifetime of happiness to these two.

So, if you walk with the Beloved after the dance you may be sure that Cupid is waiting to entrap you—and be guided accordingly.

and one Diamond and cannot afford to lose a Club. To avoid such loss he must secure a Club discard from both the Dummy and his own hand, since after exhaustion of the adverse trumps, there can be no more than one left in each hand and these will be required for trumping Spades and Diamonds in the establishment of those suits, and therefore cannot be utilized for trumping losing Clubs.

Declarer proceeds with his plan, effecting eventually the establishment of both Spades and Diamonds, and the establishing of which the two needed Club discards are obtained.

Dist. Atty. Foley's Request for Fin. Com.'s Evidence Forecasts Action on Exchange St. Widening Charges

FRAUD PERMEATED the $1,750,000 Exchange st. transaction, the Finance Commission reports to Governor Allen and the Legislature.

District Attorney William J. Foley has requested the Finance Commission to send him a transcript of the evidence presented at the commission's public investigation of the transaction. It has been promised to him.

Mr. Foley says: "When the testimony is received from the commission, any evidence of criminality disclosed therein, or received from any source in connection with this matter, will be submitted to the Grand Jury for its consideration."

The Boston Evening American twice suggested to District Attorney Foley that a Grand Jury investigation of the Exchange st. land purchase ought to be instituted.

The Boston Evening American is glad to receive District Attorney Foley's answer.

That answer, carefully prepared, indicates that so far as District Attorney Foley is concerned there may be a Grand Jury investigation. It makes certain that District Attorney Foley's attention has been brought to the Exchange st. widening.

The Boston Evening American twice urged a Grand Jury investigation of the Exchange st. transaction regardless of what the Finance Commission might report.

Our motive was the belief that the Grand Jury—and the Grand Jury only—could meet the public demand for the truth.

We still believe that to be so.

THE FINANCE COMMISSION'S report makes it more imperative than ever that the Grand Jury consider the matter.

FOR THE FINANCE COMMISSION'S REPORT IS THE MOST FAR-REACHING AND, AT THE SAME TIME, THE MOST SCATHING DENUNCIATION OF AN OFFICIAL ACT IN THE HISTORY OF BOSTON.

In the report there appear approximately 5,000 words—words selected and weighed during a five-week period.

"Manifest fraud," the report sets forth, "permeated" a transaction, between city officials and private individuals, involving $1,750,000 of taxpayers' money.

"Manifest" means, apparently, distinctly perceived.

"Permeated" means spread through, pervading.

And "fraud" is an intentional perversion of truth for the purpose of obtaining some valuable thing or promise from another.

Fraud is deception deliberately practised with a view to gaining an unlawful or unfair advantage.

Fraud is an artifice by which the right or interest of another is injured.

Fraud is deceit.

Fraud is a guile.

Fraud is a subtlety.

Fraud is a will.

Fraud is a sham, a strife, a circumvention, a strategem, a trick, an imposition and a cheat.

Fraud is dishonesty.

Fraud constitutes a crime, punishable by jail or fine.

And fraud, reports the Finance Commission, not only was present in the Exchange st. widening deal, but permeated the whole transaction.

THE FINANCE COMMISSION makes clear the important point stressed on two previous occasions by the Boston Evening American—that while the statute gives the commission broad powers of investigation, it gives it no power to institute proceedings in court, civil or criminal, even when fraud exists.

Such power is invested in District Attorney Foley, who now has his eye on Exchange st., and in the Grand Jury, whose attention also is focused there.

Mayor Nichols, replying to the Finance Commission charges, declares the commission to be hopelessly incompetent and guilty of gross misbehavior.

The Boston Evening American is not greatly interested in any personal differences that may lie between His Honor and the Finance Commission.

Nor is the general public.

WHAT THIS PAPER IS INTERESTED IN, AND WHAT THE PUBLIC IS INTERESTED IN, IS ESTABLISHING THE WHOLE TRUTH OF THE EXCHANGE ST. WIDENING AND DETERMINING BY OFFICIAL ACTION OF A DISTRICT ATTORNEY AND A GRAND JURY WHETHER THERE WAS, OR WAS NOT, ANY FRAUD IN CONNECTION WITH IT, OR ANY GRAFT IN CONNECTION WITH ANY MUNICIPAL ACTIVITIES.

If a fraud has been committed, the Legislature may empower the Finance Commission or some other body to obtain financial redress for the taxpayers. If fraud was present, the public demands such redress, a refund of their money to the city treasury, and punishment of the guilty.

But the punishment for fraud lies with the courts. And that is where District Attorney Foley and the Grand Jury for Suffolk County appear in the picture.

If fraud permeated the Exchange st. transaction, justice and the taxpayers of Boston demand punishment under the law for all those guilty of fraud, regardless of their official positions or status as private citizens.

THERE IS no more despicable betrayal than betrayal of public trust. Somewhere in the Exchange st. transaction public trust was betrayed, the Finance Commission charges.

The transcript of the Finance Commission testimony no doubt will materially aid the District Attorney in any case he may lay before the Grand Jury.

But there is no need for the District Attorney to await that transcript before starting Grand Jury action. He has the power to call all witnesses called by the Finance Commission. He has the power to call even the commissioners themselves. And hasn't there been enough waiting?

The Grand Jury is not bound to await this report or to await the "presentation" of evidence. Where it deems Grand Jury investigation necessary it MAY PROCEED WITH THAT INVESTIGATION ON ITS OWN INITIATIVE.

BUT WHETHER IT COMES THROUGH THE INITIATIVE OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY FOLEY OR WHETHER IT COMES THROUGH THE ACT OF THAT BODY ITSELF, A GRAND JURY INVESTIGATION OF EXCHANGE ST. MUST EVENTUALLY RESULT, AND OUGHT TO BEGIN NOW.

For only a Grand Jury investigation will officially establish in the public mind whether or not there was fraud, whether or not there were lies, whether or not there was shallow subterfuge, whether or not there was collusion or conspiracy, whether or not $1,750,000 was an unconscionable price for land city officials purchased with city money.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE is no longer a weak voice. It is swelling with indignation and suspicion and a note of anger. It is demanding from the office of the District Attorney and the Grand Jury hearing room, all the facts relating to questioned activities of the city administration.

District Attorney Foley and the Grand Jury for Suffolk County will now, we hope, establish those facts.

AND WHILE THE GRAND JURY IS ESTABLISHING THESE FACTS, WHY NOT ESTABLISH FACTS WITH RELATION TO THE HYDE PARK SCHOOL PROJECT AND THE SHAMEFUL CONDITIONS REVEALED IN THE ENTIRE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSION SITUATION BY THE SURVEY COMMITTEE OF THE BOSTON PUBLIC SCHOOLS?

Action of Senate Democrats on Debenture Plan Explains Their Party's Failure

THE reason the Democratic Party is not elected to office is because it does not deserve to be.

It is a party without a program; without principles and without established policies.

It is a party of mere opportunism, and not even intelligent opportunism.

For example, 34 leading Democratic Senators voted for the debenture feature of the Senate Farm Relief bill, not because they believe in it, but because they hope to make political capital out of it, because they hope to embarrass the Republican Party.

These Senators are not deceiving the country by this "sincere" attitude—they are only discrediting themselves and their party. It would seem that the experiences of the last decade should have shown the Democratic Party the utter folly of such a course, but the Democratic Party seems to have no intelligent leadership capable of being taught and no chart of Democratic principles upon which to proceed.

It is in the contemptible position of being a party of opposition merely for the sake of opposition.

In other words, the Republican Party decides the policy of the Democratic Party.

If the Republican Party favors anything the Democratic Party stupidly opposes it; if the Republican Party opposes anything the Democratic Party blindly favors it.

Of course, such an unwise course creates no Democrats, unfavourable no following for Democratic leaders, if those who are unfortunately in the Democratic councils can be called leaders.

And as a consequence the Democratic Party has lost State after State until it hardly figures as a national party at all.

There is a great opportunity for leadership in the Democratic Party, a great necessity for leadership.

There is a great necessity for a Democratic program built on fundamental Democratic principles and without these things the Democratic Party can never succeed.

THE Senate Farm Relief bill, with its famous debenture feature, is a case in point—a complete illustration of the Democratic Party's lack of fixed policies and disregard of fundamental Democratic principles.

In this Farm Relief bill there is a proposal to subsidize the farmers; which is governmental paternalism carried to the most outrageous and unjustifiable extreme.

If there is anything which the Democratic Party in its whole history is opposed to on principle it is this idea of paternalism, and the subsidizing of special elements or special interests.

The export debenture provision is a scheme to pay a bounty in the form of negotiable instruments on farm products exported to foreign countries.

These instruments, under the name of debentures, would be used by importers to pay import duties.

In other words, the export debenture, as President Hoover has pointed out, provides for nothing less than a direct subsidy from the United States Treasury in the sum of more than $200,000,000 a year.

But this gigantic gift would NOT be made to the American farmer. It would go in large part to a new group of middlemen—to dealers and manufacturers and speculators in debenturable commodities.

THESE debentures, as Secretary Mellon has pointed out, would inevitably sell at a discount.

They would raise domestic prices.

They would stimulate production.

The BAER Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The incorporation papers of the Sons of Rumble-Seaters of America have been filed with the Smithsonian Institution.

Co-operation has been feverish and production has reached the apex of stagnation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident. Every rumber-seater is entitled to suffrage and a share of the expenses.

If you desire to join our clubby little amalgamation, just fill out a complaint blank.

Our first letter was from Dick Forde of California. He writes: "I am thankful to Henry Ford for building rumber in the back and his gasoline tank under the dash. I have traveled several thousand miles on the rear axle but I do not claim to be a tourist any more than corn in the popper is seeing the world."

Mr. Ferris wrote until he was exhausted. Which was immediately.

Colonel Ewing of New Orleans also knows what it is to be loved and left behind. He states: "I am delighted that the obscure man in the rumber seat is about to get his just deserts. I am the owner of a chimney roadster, but I must perch in the rumber and get chummy with the back of my chauffeur's neck."

If the doughy colonel objects to the backs of chauffeurs' necks, we are sorry that Congress is busy with another matter.

However, we are delighted to have his vote swing in for the rumber axed. They say that the last shall be first. But it doesn't work that way in a bread line.

Harry Ringer, of Pittsburgh, was among the early pioneers who went West in the uncovered wagon. He says:

"There are three cars in my family. The first is a Ford for my son and one for my daughter. I got married in my car. When I got married I promised to stick with my wife through rain, storm and hail. But I didn't imagine that I would be compelled to do it in a rumber seat."

Eddie Bruner, of New York, bought his son-in-law a big car with purple tires and an ivory motor. He replies:

"When the family goes for a ride I go with them, but not for the ride. I am compelled to share the rumber with an strident who barks at traffic cops. The police-men think I am a rumber. (Copyright, 1929, Distributed by Universal Service, Inc.)

They would give rise to insuperable administrative difficulties.

They would reduce customs receipts and increase administrative expenses.

And this in turn would result in such a LOSS of revenue as to necessitate a tremendous increase in the rate of taxation along other lines to make up the loss.

And finally, foreign countries would probably be provoked by the export debenture plan to retaliate by levying countervailing tariff rates.

These rates would equal in amount the export bounty and would thereby nullify entirely the effect of the debenture. Instead of encouraging that diversification of crops which agriculture so sorely needs, the export debenture plan would inevitably put a premium on the one-crop system.

To have voted for the Farm Relief bill with the debenture feature, Democratic Senators must first have abandoned their Democracy.

They have proved to the country that they are not Democrats, and did not vote according to Democratic precedent and Democratic principle, but that they voted purely as opportunists, contrary to the principles of their party, in the hope of complicating a situation for the Republicans. They proved that their leadership is nothing but a trick leadership and that their opposition to the sound plans of the Republican administration is not based on ideals, not based on intelligent understanding of the situation, not based on consideration for the country or even for the farmers themselves, but merely on the hope, and the false hope, of some petty political advantage.

Even a man like Senator Copeland of New York, who has spoken publicly against the debenture feature of the bill, voted for the bill in response to the demands of the Democratic leadership.

THE situation is discouraging to all genuine Democrats throughout the country.

It gives ample explanation and ample reason for the fact that so many Democrats in principle vote the Republican ticket.

There is no Democratic Party—no party that is a Democratic Party in principle, and no party which genuine Democrats can vote for.

In giving proof of this deplorable situation the Democratic Senators have lowered the Democratic Party still further in the minds of the intelligent and patriotic citizens of the nation.
